General Puget Sound Fishing Considerations

Best Times and Tides to fish:

- The time period around a tide change is considered best for fishing, preferably fishing the incoming tide.
- During the Low light periods of early morning and dusk and cloudy days, bring out the baitfish that cutthroats salmon often pursue.

Fort Worden State Park

Fort Worden Historical State Park is a 432-acre multi-use park with more than 2 miles of saltwater shoreline. Situated at the top of Hood Canal, Coho annually and Pink Salmon, in odd years, all pass it by before heading into the waters of the Hood Canal and the Puget Sound.

View Larger Map

<https://parks.state.wa.us/511/Fort-Worden>

Fort Flagler State Park

Similar to Fort Worden, salmon must pass by Fort Flagler before heading into Hood Canal and Puget Sound. Migratory Coho annually and Pink Salmon available in odd years. The park has 19,100 feet of saltwater shoreline, 59 camp sites and a boat launch.

<https://parks.state.wa.us/508/Fort-Flagler>

Point Whitney

At the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife Shellfish Research Lab is a boat launch, parking area, restrooms, and public access to the beach. The public access extends north of the boat launch to just past the creek that flows into the sound. To the south the beach is accessible approximately 100 yards from the boat launch. This access spot is good for cutthroat as well as migratory and resident Coho.

The boat launch and beach for kayaks, provide access to miles of productive beach to the north.

<https://wdfw.wa.gov/places-to-go/water-access-sites/30984>

Dosewallips State Park and River

Dosewallips State Park is a 1,064-acre, year-round camping park with 5 miles of shoreline on Hood Canal and the Dosewallips River. The camp has 100 tent spaces, 40 utility spaces, one dump station, three restrooms (one ADA) and two showers. Shore fishing for migratory Chum and Coho and resident Sea-Run Cutthroats

Fishing the Dosewallips River:

Steelhead fishing has been on the decline in this river for years. Once a river that would give up hundreds of fish now might give up 25-30 winter run steelhead. The Dosewallips has a good run of Chum salmon in November and December, and there's usually a short Chum season during that time. Every other year you might run into a Pink salmon or two on this watershed. Sea-Run Cutthroats are lightly fished here but can provide good action after a Fall rain storm. All wild Cutthroat's must be released, and the river isn't stocked with hatchery fish.

Scenic Beach State Park

Scenic Beach State Park is a 121-acre camping park, a boat launch, with 1,500 feet of saltwater beachfront on the Hood Canal, near Seabeck. Shore fly fishing opportunities for Cutthroat Trout and migratory Coho Salmon in the surrounding waters .

<https://parks.state.wa.us/579/Scenic-Beach>

Triton Cove State Park

Triton Cove is a 30-acre day-use park with 555 feet of saltwater shore on Hood Canal, that has good Cutthroat Fishing, and a boat launch.

<https://parks.state.wa.us/296/Triton-Cove>

Hoodsport

A major hatchery exists here just off of Hwy 101 on Hood Canal. Chum salmon are available in large numbers in October and November at this Hood Canal fishery. A boat launch is at nearby Potlatch St. Park.

Potlatch State Park

Potlatch State Park lies along the Hood Canal, 40 miles from Olympia that is a 84-acre camping park with 5,700 feet of saltwater shoreline on Hood Canal with fishing opportunities for migratory Coho and resident Cutthroat Trout.

<https://parks.state.wa.us/569/Potlatch>

Twanoh State Park

Twanoh State Park is a 188-acre, marine camping park with 3,167 feet of saltwater shoreline on Hood Canal in South Puget Sound, with a boat launch and 25 campsites. Sea-Run Cutthroat available year-round with summer and fall being prime months, along with being a good option for windy days on Hood Canal.

View Larger Map

<https://parks.state.wa.us/294/Twanoh>

Belfair State Park

At the lower end of Hood Canal lies Belfair State Park. The muddy bottom makes this a difficult beach to fish for cutthroat at low tide, however fishing can improve during higher tides. Some migratory Coho will stage in the estuary. during late summer and early fall. There is also an option for chasing Chum Salmon in late fall in the saltwater. A boat launch is located  $\frac{3}{4}$  mile to the west. The park offers 143 campsites.

Point No Point Park

This Kitsap county point can get very crowded during prime fishing seasons.

Arrive as early as possible to ensure a spot. Even if you secure a spot, fly fishing can be tough with limited room for back casting. Nonetheless, this can be a very good spot for migratory Coho annually and Pink Salmon in odd years.

Eglon Access Point

Eglon Access spot is for anglers looking to pursue migratory Coho salmon in the summer and fall months. Access is gained off the Hansville Highway, and then a right on Eglon Rd., and follow it till you see the boat launch on your left. Best fished on a lower tide, since it gives anglers the ability fish over the ledge and eel grass beds. Anglers who hike North or South along the beach and find even more access. There is also a nice boat launch for small to medium sized boats here. Beware however, the tidelands flatten right out and you may not get your boat back on your trailer if you time the tide wrong.

Shine Tidelands State Park

Shine Tidelands State Park is a 249-acre day-use park with 5,000 feet of tideland along Bywater Bay. This park is situated just across the Hood Canal bridge and directly across from Salisbury County Park. It offers anglers a decent cutthroat beach and when migratory salmon are making their way into Hood Canal

<https://parks.state.wa.us/583/Shine-Tidelands>

Salisbury Point County Park

Located on the far northwest end of the Kitsap peninsula the spot can be a producer of Coho salmon seasonally. Sea-run cutthroat will also be present at certain times on the beaches surrounding this park. The park has a boat launch.

<https://www.kitsapgov.com/parks/Pages/SalsburyPointPark.aspx>

Kitsap Memorial State Park

Kitsap Memorial State Park is a 62-acre park with 20 camp sites and 1,797 feet of saltwater shoreline. Anglers have a nice 1/4 mile stretch of beach to fish here, and cutthroat tend to hang on this beach. A public boat launch is located 4 miles from the park at Salsbury Point County Park. Located at 3160 NW Wheeler Street, Poulsbo WA 98370.

<https://parks.state.wa.us/529/Kitsap-Memorial>

Chico Creek

Located north of Bremerton, Chico creek gets a very large return of hatchery Chum salmon which are available in the estuary in October and November. This spot can also be crowded, so be sure to allow enough room for proper execution of the back cast. Be aware of the limited parking. Certain residents may allow parking for a small fee. There is also limited parking near the boat ramp north of the estuary.

<https://washington.hometownlocator.com/maps/feature-map,ftc,1,fid,1505120,n,chico%20creek.cfm>

Manchester State Park

Manchester has a large amount of shoreline and is best fished on an outgoing tide to allow enough room for back casting. Coho salmon are available in late summer as well as Cutthroat and resident Coho year-round. The park has 3,400 feet of saltwater shoreline, 35 campsites and Kayaks or small watercraft may be carried to the beach area for launching.

Olalla & Anderson Point Park

Northeast of Gig Harbor. Year-round opportunities for Cutthroat and Resident Coho as well as seasonal opportunities for migratory Salmon. Option 1 -Park at the Boat Launch then walk across the street and take the stairs next to Al's Market down to the beach to fish. Option 2 – Go to Anderson Point Park and fish the shore. Outgoing tide is popular but both can be productive.

Dash Point State Park

Another migratory salmon spot near Tacoma, popular for Pink Salmon in odd years. Expect large crowds.

View Larger Map

<https://parks.state.wa.us/DocumentCenter/View/9285/Dash-Point-State-Park-PDF?bidId=>

Brown's Point

A migratory salmon spot near Tacoma, this beach is popular for Pink Salmon in odd years. Expect large crowds during the peak of the run. Please respect private property along the beach shore, if you don't, you'll be busted!.

<https://explorewashingtonstate.com/browns-point-lighthouse-beach/>

Tacoma Harbor - Puyallup River Area

The Tacoma Harbor is a staging area for beach Pink Salmon in odd years and Cutthroat can be found here as well and must be fished for with a water craft.

<https://explorewashingtonstate.com/browns-point-lighthouse-beach/>

Titlow Park

On the Tacoma side of the Narrows. This beach fishes seasonally similar to Narrows Park for Coho, Cutthroat and Pinks (in the odd years).

View Titlow Park in a larger map

http://www.willhiteweb.com/puget\_sound\_parks/titlow\_park/tacoma\_narrows\_397.htm

Tacoma Narrows Park

Summer through fall brings salmon moving through the Tacoma Narrows as they migrate into the South Sound. The Narrows can also be fished well in the winter for Resident Coho with December through March being the best months. There is a lot of room to spread out here. On a lower tide you can fish South, down to the right, fishing for Cutthroat. North of the park there is over a mile of fishable beach. Under the bridge and in front of the park are the two most popular spots. This is a great spot to fish at dusk with big Coho and Kings feeding close to the surface. The park is open until an hour after sunset so make sure you are not far from the parking lot to avoid getting locked in. Park opens at 7:30am.

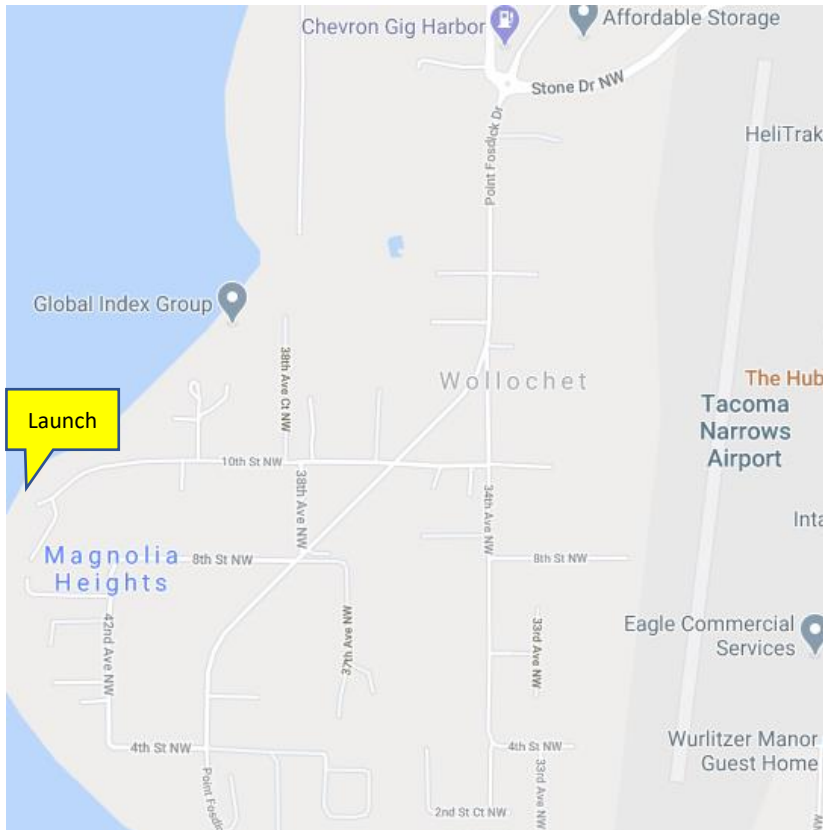

<https://www.wwta.org/sites/narrows-park/>

10th Street NW Boat Launch near the Tacoma Narrows Airport

Take the first exit, 24st NW, after crossing Tacoma Narrows Bridge and go left over HWY 16, then turn left on Jahan Avenue. Turn right at Stone Drive NW, go past the Narrows Airport and take a left on Point Fosdick Drive at the bottom of the hill. Follow Point Fosdick Drive to 10th Street NW and turn right and follow the road to the boat launch at the bottom of the hill between a small red house on the left and a larger white house on the right. Parking is along the road.

This boat launch site offers access to shore fishing for Cutthroats and migratory Coho in the surround areas and To fish for Pinks at Browns Point and in Tacoma where they stage to go up the Puyallup River.

<https://piercecounitywa.gov/6071/10th-St-NW-boat-ramp>

Kopachuck State Park

Kopachuck State Park is a 109-acre day use park with 5,600 feet of saltwater shoreline on Henderson Bay in Pierce County. Fishes best from Mid-Summer on for Sea-Run Cutthroat and occasional Coho and Pink salmon.

Look for rock and Oyster Beds for the best fishing. Don't go past the No Trespassing signs to the left of the park.

The beach is at least a quarter mile downhill hike from the parking lot.

Beach is difficult to fish at high tide due to large trees an angler will be backed up against.

<https://parks.state.wa.us/530/Kopachuck>

Point Fosdick Boat Launch

The boat ramp is located at the end of Point Fosdick Drive. Watch out for soft sand as this is a primitive ramp with no paving. The mouth of Wollochet Bay and the shore to the west are good waters to fish for Cutthroats and migratory Coho.

<https://www.google.com/maps/place/Point+Fosdick+Dr,+Washington+98335/@47.2687225,122.5927716,15z/data=!4m5!3m4!1s0x5491aca3293ce013:0x64778378db4ae8b6!8m2!3d47.2803312!4d-122.5786277>

Fox Island Fishing Pier

An out of the way park with similar fishing seasons and opportunities to Narrows and Titlow.

To access the beach, walk behind the restrooms to stairs and a trail leading down to the beach.

The beach drops off very quickly and is a good spot to target migratory Coho and Pinks on the odd years.

There is a boat ramp on Fox Island at the end of the bridge and is shallow there, so beware of low tide boat retrievals.

View Larger Map

<http://penmetparks.org/parks/fox-island-fishing-pier/>

Purdy

A very popular beach close to Gig Harbor. Year-round action available for sea run cutthroat and seasonally for Coho and Pink Salmon. Fish behind the Massimo Restaurant side, not the spit side. The outgoing tide is most popular, when Burley Lagoon empties through the bridge and creates river like current. Incoming tide can be productive as well. Sculpins and Chum fry imitations are effective at this beach seasonally. The Boat Launch is over the spit to the west about ½ mile.

<https://www.co.pierce.wa.us/3947/Purdy-Sand-Spit>

Vaughn Boat Launch

The boat launch is located in the town of Vaughn almost at the end Hall Road Northwest and offers shoreline areas to fish for Sea Run Cutthroat, for migratory Coho and Chum Salmon along the North Bay and across to the Reach and Stretch Islands .

<https://www.google.com/maps/place/17999+Hall+Rd+NW,+Vaughn,+WA+98394/@47.342079,-122.7782647,17z/data=!3m1!4b1!4m5!3m4!1s0x5491b3d4daa39c61:0xfc25a380b30ef6a0!8m2!3d47.3420815!4d-122.7760693>

Reach Island

Reach Island offers shore fishing for Sea-Run Cutthroat and Migratory and Resident Coho. Boats can be launched at the Grapeview Boat Ramp. Best reached by boat from the Vaughn Bay boat launch.

<https://www.google.com/maps/place/Reach+Island/@47.3408484,-122.8346418,15z/data=!3m1!4b1!4m5!3m4!1s0x5491b113be1c4f25:0x1a0f9e0bf505dbe4!8m2!3d47.340072!4d-122.8248835>

Stretch Point State Park

This small state park is located on Stretch Island, which has a bridge but there is no access by vehicle. Stretch Point State Park is a beach that is only accessible by boat. Stretch Island offers shore fishing for Sea-Run Cutthroat and also for Migratory and Resident Coho. Best reached by boat from the Vaughn Bay boat launch.

https://www.stateparks.com/stretch\_point\_state\_park\_in\_washington.html

Von Geldern Cove Boat Launch

The boat launch is located in the town of Key Peninsula almost at the end of A street North West and offers shoreline areas to fish for Sea Run Cutthroat and for migratory Coho that go up the stream that empties into the end of the cove, in the Fall. In the fall, the Penrose State Park boat launch is closed and the Von Geldern launch site is a close by alternative site.

<https://mapcarta.com/23975286>

Penrose Point State Park

Out on the Key Peninsula with a very long and narrow point, Penrose offers lots of water to fish. A popular method is to hike out around the point at a low tide and work your way back as the tide returns. Summer through fall is best for Sea-Run Cutthroat. Resident Coho are available occasionally. There are also options for migratory salmon in season.

<https://parks.state.wa.us/564/Penrose-Point>

Joemma Beach State Park

Joemma State Park is a 106-acre, marine camping park with 3,000 feet of saltwater frontage on Sound Puget Sound's Key Peninsula, with beach fishing for Sea-Run Cutthroat and resident Coho and has a boat launch. The park is located close to Penrose Pont State Park.

View Larger Map

<https://parks.state.wa.us/524/Joemma-Beach>

Taylor Bay Park

Taylor Bay Park is located south of Longbranch which is below Penrose Point Park. At low tide a gravel beach extends out to reveal acres of teeming marine life. The park includes picnic tables and water access for non-motorized boats. The area offers shore fishing for Sea-Run Cutthroat and migratory and resident Coho.

Camano Island State Park is a 244-acre camping park, with 88 campsites, boat launches and 6,700 feet of rocky shoreline located an hour from Seattle. The beach is popular spot fishing for Cutthroat Trout and for Pink Salmon in the odd years.

<https://parks.state.wa.us/484/Camano-Island>

Bush Point & Lagoon Point

On Whidbey Island and is a location for fishing for Sea-Run Cutthroat and Pinks in the Odd years. Bush Point and Lagoon Point are well known and the home of Whidbey Island combat fishing, when the salmon runs are on. These two spots aren't fly fisher friendly because of the crowds during the salmon runs.

<http://portofsouthwhidbey.com/facilities/bush-point-boat-ramp/>

South Whidbey State Park

South Whidbey State Park is just north of Lagoon Point and is a 381-acre day-use park. It is seldom fished and just as productive as Lagoon Point. It's a classic beach fishing area and the same fish that travel by Bush and Lagoon Points cruise through its waters. There is about a half-mile hike to get to the water and there's plenty of room for fly rods.

<https://parks.state.wa.us/585/South-Whidbey>

Possession Waterfront Park

Possession Waterfront Park on Whidbey, off Possession Road is an area seldom used for beach fishing.

It can be an excellent spot when both salmon and cutthroat are in the area.

There is a paved parking area, boat launch and porta-toilets.

Greenbank, Whidbey Island

There is a secret spot in Greenbank that is owned by the county. It's off North Bluff Road, at the bottom of Neon Lane and Hidden Beach Drive. (Just keep going downhill.) Public access is north of the parking area. This spot can be very good for sea run cutthroat..

Fay Bainbridge State Park

Fay Bainbridge State Park is a 17-acre marine camping park with 1,420 feet of saltwater shoreline on the northeast corner of Bainbridge Island. Shoreline fishing opportunities for Cutthroat Trout, migratory Coho and Pinks in the odd years. There is a boat launch area for car topper water craft.

http://www.stateparks.com/fay\_bainbridge.html

Fort Ward State Park

Fort Ward State Park on Bainbridge Island is a fishing spot for sea-run Cutthroat Trout and for Pink Salmon in the odd years.

<https://www.google.com/maps/place/Fort+Ward+Park/@47.6256459,-122.707094,11.75z/data=!4m5!3m4!1s0x0:0xba45db287669780b!8m2!3d47.5882903!4d-122.5312019>

Fern Cove, Vashon Island

Fern Cove is situated on the northwest part of the Island on SW Cedarhurst Rd. It comprises 750 feet of shoreline with two year-round streams. Both Chum and Coho salmon, as well as Cutthroat Trout, have been observed at Fern Cove when they return to spawn upstream in Shingle mill Creek.

<https://www.google.com/maps/place/Fern+Cove/@47.4283304,-122.7511898,10.75z/data=!4m5!3m4!1s0x5490460896885883:0x77ba6f0902c14562!8m2!3d47.4811087!4d-122.4859969>

Manzanita Beach Maury-Vashon Island

Manzanita Beach is located on the south end of Maury Island, that is connected to Vashon Island and is a spot to cast for Pinks, in the odd years, and resident Cutthroat Trout.
